We believe each child is unique. The Center for Faith-based and Neighborhood Partnerships works to promote student-driven education through engagement with faith leaders and organizations, both faith-based and/or community-focused. We invite undergraduate and graduate students seeking to engage in partnerships between government and communities to apply for our Summer 2018 internship in Washington, D.C.

Interns should expect to assist the CFBNP team on a variety of projects including outreach, communications, social media, and research. We value strong writing skills, adaptability, and a growth mindset.
